Are you making your plans to attend the Everglades Fair and Boat Festival? Flom what the boys in charge tell me it will be well worth your while this year. George Mead, fair manager, says that the fair this year is going to far better than anything ever offered in the Glades.

After taking a look inside the busy fair office on the grounds and seeing the minute details in preparing for the fair, I have no reason to doubt George's word. As you probably know, the fair and boat festival is being sponsored by the American Legion post and with Abe Dobrow as the commander there is no reason for the fair not being a success.

Claude Baptes, George McLarty and Carmen Salvadore are going to be the fair's main attraction. They are working diligently to see that it is a success.

Malcolm Miller, secretary, and Claude Santos are hustling every minute of the day to make the fair program as good as possible. The boys are meeting with fairly good success and they feel that by the time the boat festival is over it will be well filled with interesting data, descriptive matter and ads.

The boys are making every effort to present a good looking fair program. The cover of the book will be a beautiful mandarin color with blue ink. Several thousand copies have been contracted for, and when they are distributed the Lake Region will get some valuable advertising.

I would say that the premium list and program are going to be a good looking piece of work but our office received the contract for printing it, and it might seem like bragging. Anyway, we are going to make it look just as attractive as possible.

The Legion pavilion received a new coat of paint this week and is now ready to receive the fair building. The boys are putting out a lot of money this year in getting ready for the fair and they hope they have favorable weather during the week of April 11. It would be a tough break at that particular week, but we are much like those who have during our rainy seasons.

This year instead of offering prizes for community exhibits the fair committee states that prizes will be given for the most interesting exhibits. The green corn display is going to draw a lot of entrants. I think that will be a good thing. Prizes in this particular line of vegetable entries.

Booths are being erected on three sides of the Legion lot and according to those in charge of the exhibit it looks like the most commercial exhibits will be there this year than ever before. Plans call for a huge midway of attractions.

"WATSHIT" is a new game to be played at the fair this year and the boys in charge tell me that it is going to be worth while. I tried to find out what the game was and found that it was a game of chance. I'll have to wait until fair time to find out about it.

Then, on second thought I remember that the legislature opened the same day the fair does. So I guess I'll have to read about the fair in the papers. I suppose it will be a good thing. I'll have to wait until fair time to find out about it.

There are 90 members in the House of Representatives in the coming session and from here it looks like there will be 90 plans for saving the state. Maybe we can consolidate the state and arrive at some conclusion that will be worth while.

The State Road department is going to rebuild Road 25 between Belle Glade and Twenty Mile. It's a good thing. I'll have to wait until fair time to find out about it.

And here, again, this week is the same page, seeing that four lines to fill it before we can go on to press with another issue of the paper.

Pepper Will
Try To Raise
Sugar QuotaBelieves U. S. is Entitled to Raise More Than Quota Allows

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Senator Claude Pepper of Florida said yesterday he will introduce amendments to the administration sugar control bill to allow domestic sugar producers to supply all needs resulting from an increase in consumption in this country.

The present bill, sponsored by Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, Democrat of Wyoming, limits domestic sugar production to 1,500,000 short tons.

"It seems to me we are taking a great interest in the internal politics of Cuba," Pepper said. "By granting them a large quota it is assumed that we are increasing their purchasing power of our products."

"But before we do this I think we would like to see the distribution of the income from sugar in Cuba. If most of it is going to some New York bank house and not a great deal of it toward wages, then the purpose of the large quota is defeated."

"Pepper indicated he has recruited a number of sugar producers to support his amendments in addition to eliminating the provision limiting to 1,500,000 tons the increase in domestic consumption which may be absorbed by domestic producers, his proposal would increase to 1,800,000 short tons. The present bill sets Cuba's allotment at 1,948,000 tons.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Controversies over the administration sugar control bill developed within the congressional sugar bloc today as plans were made to speed action on the measure.

"Louisiana's congressional delegation voted today on the floor to support the bill, but the state was not given a higher production quota than the measure."

Florida Congressmen joined Louisiana in opposing restrictions upon domestic sugar, and protesting declaring Florida's sugar industry could expand profitably if the government would lift quota.

Resident Commissioner Quitman Parades of the Philippines continued to oppose the bill, but he said to Philippine interest because it would oppose the general three quarters cent a pound excise tax which would be given for the most interesting exhibits. The green corn display is going to draw a lot of entrants. I think that will be a good thing. Prizes in this particular line of vegetable entries.

BENEFIT DANCE AT
CLEWISTON INN

The annual benefit for St. Margaret's Catholic church in Clewiston will be held on Thursday evening, March 16, St. Patrick's Day eve, instead of on Wednesday evening as previously announced. The well and favorably known Hi-Flat, dancers of Lake Worth has been engaged for the dance which starts at nine o'clock on New Street.

Governor To Clarify His Economy PlanMeeting Jacksonville on Monday To Be of Great Interest

JACKSONVILLE, March 11.—Governor Fred P. Cone will clarify his program and plans for the state's advancement to the people and press of Florida at a luncheon session in the Mayflower hotel here next Monday, Harold C. Cone, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, said today.

The conference is being sponsored by the State Chamber after several conferences between the governor and Mr. Cone and will call together a group of representatives of business men and labor including those from various trading organizations of Florida. The meeting will be held at 1 o'clock on the Mayflower roof, Mr. Cone said.

Governor Cone's program of economy and its effect upon the state's property is a matter which each citizen of the state is interested in, Mr. Cone declared. "In order that the governor may summarize his program to the people of Florida, the state chamber is sponsoring this conference."

"Observing Florida's rapid progress and considering the economic and social needs growing out of her material advancement, we feel the time is here when a conference with the governor is a definite need. It will be a tremendous factor in bringing about greater cooperation, closer co-ordination of effort and a deeper understanding of the problems in which we are as a whole and as individuals interested," Mr. Cone said.

ST. AUGUSTINE TO CELEBRATE TUES-

ST. AUGUSTINE, March 12.—(FNS)—"A Day in Old Spain," a colorful, Spanish, historical festival, will be held at St. Augustine on Tuesday, March 13, as the first in a series of celebrations and special events days being planned by civic groups and the national committee for the restoration of historic St. Augustine, as a means of popularizing the program and creating a new life in the city.

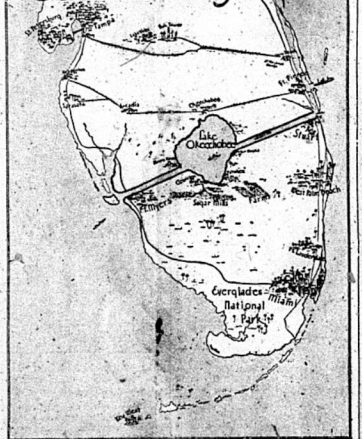

Dr. C. C. Merriam of the Carnegie Institution, who is chairman of the committee, has asked cooperation of historical and historical organizations in collection of folk songs, folk tales, religious observances and traditional material which can be used to make other festivals of real worth and authentic historical color. Plans for organization of special religious pilgrimages to shrines in the ancient city have been made.

A 10-point program, prepared by Dr. Chetlain, was set forth for the celebration of the festival. The program is being conducted here through cooperation of the Carnegie Institution.

Funeral Rites Held Sunday
For Pioneer of EvergladesDr. Thomas E. Will Passes After Illness of 24 Hours

Funeral rites of Dr. Thomas E. Will, 75, educator, conservationist, and a developer of the Everglades, who died Friday afternoon at 34 Glade, with Rev. J. G. Parnell, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Fort Lauderdale where his wife, Mrs. E. Will, died in 1928.

With the passing of Dr. Thomas E. Will of Belle Glade on March 9, the Everglades has lost not only one of its most devoted and pioneer developers, but an ardent champion for all worth while improvements, and a recognized authority on Everglades affairs.

While secretary of the American Forestry association in Washington, D. C., he first became interested in the Everglades, and after making a trip to investigate, returned and aided in establishing the first town at Davis (first known as Zonia). Everglades lands had been sold in small tracts widely scattered to a small army of northern buyers and he at once saw the impracticability of success without the settlers being grouped together for the advantages of transportation, water control and community life.

In this view, he attempted to get the land companies or the state to acquire the land. He was unable to do so, but he was able to get one solid tract, well located, where the prospective settlers might have a better chance to succeed. Road Board
To Consider
All Requests$100,000 In Construction Sought at Meeting
In Tampa

TAMPA, March 10.—The State Highway department, in a five-hour session here today, considered requests for road construction totaling $100,000,000 and heard threats of lawsuits which may cause the withdrawal of all Federal road aid from Florida.

Litigation, which became known for the first time today, is centered about the ignoring of commitments made to various counties by the preceding board of members, who were appointees of former Governor Sholtz, resigned.

Notice of the first mandamus action—from Calhoun county—was filed in the circuit court here today just before it went into session. Fred H. Kent, claimant attorney of Jacksonville, said it would be a matter of time before the Calhoun county litigation was said to be based on the contention that the county had been promised, by road board resolution, that certain work would be performed.

On the other hand, the county had succeeded in procuring PWA assistance. All PWA aid, he said, might be withdrawn if the department did not carry out the terms of its resolutions.

The first suit is scheduled for hearing before the Supreme court on March 18. Attorneys said it would determine whether the county had been promised for several million dollars worth of commitments made by the Sholtz board.

Kent pointed out that the commission already is faced with a claim of nearly $2,000,000. It must build any new construction and it must divert funds from other projects for which federal aid could be obtained.

He said several other similar commitments had been made by the previous commission, and if all of them have to be carried out, the county will be in a bad way. The first suit, he added, probably will determine whether the commission is obligated by actions of the previous board.

In the last six months of the Sholtz administration, Kent continued, the former commission took over and made toll free 31 privately constructed bridges and paid a debt of $250,000. There are other toll bridges, he said, promised to be taken over by the new commission, within the next few months.

Despite this turn of events, four members of the commission, he stated all day to requests from more than 40 counties for new highways and bridges. He said he had promised to take over the toll bridges, with a promise to consider all of them.

Chairman Arthur B. Hale of the commission said he had definitely set up a policy of pay for use of the bridges, and that he had promised to take over the toll bridges, with a promise to consider all of them.

GOLF TOURNEY
CREATES INTEREST

Swinging into the first week's first round play at the Lake Okechobee Golf Club's Spring tournament, favorites advanced in nearly every match in both the 18-hole and the 9-hole 16 matches going to the 19th hole.

In one of the hardest fought matches of last Sunday, Robert Baer, former Lake Okechobee pro, defeated Gene Barwick, Sr., 1 up in 19 holes. Baer was a birdie four on the 19th.

In the fourth hole, found the competition tough when Barwick fired 40 at him, on the first nine to become 3 up at the turn. The latter developed putter trouble on the next nine 19 shot a one up while Baer was repeating his first round of 44 to tie the match on the last green. Baer's 3 on the 19th was good enough to win the match.

Historical Pageant to Be Held in Ocala

Ocala, March 12.—(FNS)—The landing of Pedro Menéndez de Aviles at St. Augustine in 1565, first introducing oranges into Fla. from Spain, will be the subject of the first episode of a historical pageant to be presented at the Golden Jubilee of the Florida State Society.

Planting of orange trees in the hammocks around the Springs Lake by the Indians will constitute the second scene. Added interest is given to the pageant by the fact that many of these wild orange trees still grow in the hammocks and will be seen by Jubilee guests.

Dramatization of the beginning of Florida's grapefruit industry will comprise a third episode. The scene will show Don Phillips bringing grapefruit trees to the west coast in Pinellas county near the present town of Safety Harbor.

According to J. J. Gerig, director of the pageant, the work started this spring on an outdoor stage at Silver Springs Park with arrangements for 4,000 persons.

We saw in the American Magazine where a Mr. M. M. of Washington named their baby boy Katz.

Young Demos
Will Organize Pahoehoe UnitMeeting Scheduled for the Night of March 21
in the Pavilion

Wednesday, March 31 has been set as the date for organization of a Young Democratic club in Pahoehoe. The meeting will be held in the Legion pavilion at 8 p. m. and all interested in joining the organization are urged to be present for the election of officers and perfecting of plans for the coming year's work.

A temporary committee composed of H. M. McIntosh, treasurer, Paul Rardin and Dr. B. F. Hughes, are making plans for the meeting. They stated yesterday that the state charter has been issued and 16 charter members have pledged their co-operation in the new unit. Charter members are G. M. Belk, W. D. Larimore, R. B. Mackey, M. D. Parker, Bob Schroder, H. M. McIntosh, Roscoe Schroder, R. L. Murray, O. B. McClure, B. Elliott, Arthur Mulberg, John Dulany, Paul Santos, J. J. Richardson, Paul Rardin and B. F. Hughes.

The charter calls for election of a president, a vice president, a secretary and treasurer, committee man and committee woman. Only those who were paid will be eligible to participate in the election of officers.

Grapefruit Priced Upward
After Selling Campaign

Orlando, March 12.—(FNS)—Growers who are lucky enough to have any grapefruit left will reap a rich harvest in dollars for the remainder of the shipping season. The opinion of prominent growers in the industry: There is no longer any surplus of fruit. Chain store and canner's requirements have lifted the marketing burden of too much surplus fruit.

A prominent Lake Okechobee grower, H. W. Howey, is saying how he has realized a profitable grapefruit year, said: "Two months ago one would have believed we would have received production costs on our grapefruit. Now, the completion of the chain store sale campaign has resulted in a surplus, but proven that the market will take a larger quantity of fruit at a better retail price."

Howey stated that he had been able to secure better than 40 cents for his grade and had sold the entire remaining crop of March Seedless for late spring fruit. He said that these prices are at least twice what they were prior to the nation-wide campaign.

Prices for canners grade fruit in the country are also higher. In the past week were 70 cents per field box on the tree, and indications are that prices will go higher. In Orange County prices on the same grade fruit had climbed by Thursday of last week to 70 cents, and was, reliably reported they would be higher. These prices are the actual offerings made by the canner's buyers and the highest of the current season.

BANDS COMPETE IN STATE CONTEST

West Palm Beach, March 12.—(FNS)—More than 1,000 young musicians from leading military, high schools and colleges throughout the state gathered here today for the greatest band assembly in the history of Florida.

Competition in the annual state band championship was marked by two days of parading, drilling, and musical contests. The contest was held at the University of Florida, where the band competition was held.

It is not advisable to use gasoline as a cleaner of an automobile because it will tend to dull the finish.

More Sugar

Congress is being asked to give the cane sugar states an opportunity to effect their own recovery.

Whether the cane producers will get an enlarged quota seems to depend upon a congressional attitude scarcely in keeping with the best interests of the American consumers.

Here in Florida, for instance, sugar makers at Cleveland, Mississippi are asking permission to produce 200,000 tons a year instead of 60,000 tons. Louisiana growers ask that their quota be raised to 258,000 tons. They ask this in place of federal subsidies which have required Florida growers to plow under nearly 6,000 acres of growing cane and receive benefit payments of $1,200,000.

The sugar cane industry presents a picture hard for the American consumer to justify. By reason of restrictions imposed by Congress, growers in the United States are confined to production of 25 per cent of the nation's sugar needs. The great plants at Cleveland and elsewhere are prevented from producing more than two-thirds of their present production, and are prohibited entirely from expanding.

These restrictions are invoked against American industry and American labor for the express benefit of Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawai and the Philippines. Certainly not one wants to cut these countries out from a reasonable American market for their sugar, but there has been no satisfactory explanation yet as to why Congress feels it necessary to give these countries unusual concessions to penalize American growers in response to their own sugar needs.

Florida specifically is asking that it be given the opportunity of bringing in three times its present production. That means trebling the cultivated area of the Florida Everglades, and starting the labor pay roll, expanding the mercantile activity of the whole state. By no means does this involve penalizing the other sugar producers. It is a request Congress will find almost impossible to deny, in the face of increasing needs for developing continental production.—Miami Herald.

The $3,000,000 Mystery The knoll of Governor Cone's "economy" program undoubtedly was sounded when he decided to send the budget to the legislators with specific recommendations as to where reductions could be made. The inference will be that when it came right down to it the governor either couldn't find the savings he has been talking about or that he was not willing to limit by naming them at this time. As the legislature is not likely to have any better luck, or any greater courage if that's what it takes, the chances are we have heard the last of the widely advertised $3,000,000 slash in state expenditures.

This will be a great disappointment to those whose hope for economies have been aroused.
They have been led to believe that there was a vast amount of "doable" and "easy" money to be made at Tallahassee which could be swept away. They still believe it that they don't know and where it is and so far nobody in authority has pointed it out. It is probably there, all right, but until it is identified nothing definite can be done about eliminating it.

The necessary notice was expected to be served by the governor in his letter transmitting the budget to the legislature.
That's what he promised to do, when challenged during the last board discussion to "put his finger on a place where money could be saved. However, he did not see fit to do so, his letter merely stating that he disagreed with "many items" and where it was in "excess of what is needed to operate the government." These items went unnamed and are unknown except for clues furnished when the governor at the budget hearing objected to some of the proposed cuts in the budget. He said he was "too high." The total of these objections was not tabulated but it is an infinitesimal fraction of $3,000,000.

Failure to be more specific at this time does not necessarily mean that the governor has abandoned his program to the tenacious members of the legislature. He may be biding his time with the intention of "submitting details when the appropriations committee begins their deliberations.
That may be the expedient way to get at it but it is to be regretted that it has to wait that long. In the first place it would seem that the legislature is entitled to advance guidance, that being the purpose of the law requiring the budget recommendations" be submitted 30 days before the session.

Even Simple Home Life Is Dangerous

Expert Tells How to Avoid House Hazards

Ignorance of Danger and Careless Use of Modern Equipment Is Cited

By WALTER JAMES STUBBS
Safety Engineer

The American home should be the safest place on earth—but it isn't.
On the contrary, life in the American home is perilous. Fire and accident make it so. And instead of decreasing the nation's peace-time casualty list is increasing rapidly.

Adventurers go to Africa to shoot big game, to the ice fields to scale mountain heights; to the polar regions for exploration. But statistics indicate that they may be safer than if they had remained in their homes in America. In 1935, according to the National Safety Council, 31,200 persons died as a result of accidents in American homes. In 1936, the total grew to 35,000 deaths. That is more than double the number of fatalities that occurred in private industry and almost twice the number of deaths resulting from motor accidents during the same period.

The worker in his factory or on the street is not in as much danger as he is at home. He is careless and more careful at work or on the road.

Fire is a tremendous hazard in the American home. According to the National Fire Protection Association, a house is attacked by fire every minute throughout the year. In 1935, there were 200,000 fires and the loss totalled $25,000,000 and $100,000,000. Eight thousand deaths were caused by burns, fires and conflagrations. Eighty per cent of those deaths came from fires in the home.

The use of combustible roofs, instead of fire-retarding roofs such as asphalt shingles and tiles, carries hazards in smoking and the use of matches, candles, stoves, gas flues and defective wiring are among the major factors in the tremendous annual loss of life and property.
Fire and accident can be virtually eliminated in the home through the use of modern equipment. Make a survey of your home today. Note the unsafe conditions in cellar, on roof, wherever you can look. Ask other members of your family to help you. Make a list of the things about the task of making them safe.
Failure to recognize unsafe conditions and failure to correct them before they have been noted are the fundamental reasons for the great appealing peace-time loss of life.

In addition, the general public is interested and the makers of get more attention now than it will when the legislature is in session with many other issues competing for space in the papers.

Having passed up this opportunity the governor has but one more message to the legisla-

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

According to Roger Balaban, Karl Lohman and a few other recognized authorities, Florida is fated to have another boom, and they tell us the one on the way will make the little party we had back in 1925 look like a mere trifle.

It seems that everybody ain't on relief and a lot of folks all over the country have been making dough and salting it away in safety deposit boxes, banks and behind the mantle piece.

Now mankind's money is one thing and keeping it is something else.
To say nothing of making it, it brings in a mass of interest, and while these folks don't seem to have any fret as far as making it is concerned they're getting gray hair and plenty of wrinkles tryin' to figure out a way to keep it.
The place where Florida comes in a long time ago a Mr. Edison smart-cracked that "There's only one Florida and 30,000,000 people are going to find it out." Well, since that statement was made, a good many millions have made the predicted discovery; not only that, but they've been tellin' their friends about it and as a result tourist travel to the state this season has been greater than at any time in our history.

Now you take a dose of sunshine, a salty air, mix in a dollop of mokin' birds, a bit of white sand and beach and warin' palms in the background, and a ten-pound black bass and sprinkle with tree tri-citrus—feed it to some guy who has spent 40 or 50 years waitin' thru' sleet and snow, dodgin' klets and fightin' double pneumonia, and I mean he just naturally likes his bass and money for more.
If he's got enough "needful" he

- To Avoid Accident
- 1-Provide stairways, especially cell stairs, with hand-rails.
- 2-Be sure that electric switches are properly placed, so that dry, non-conductive footing is assured and walking is dangerous unnecessary.
- 3-Fasten all rugs on stairways securely.
- 4-Don't wax floors highly. It makes them too slippery.
- 5-Don't permit wires to remain in cellar near electric outlet. To avoid having short circuits possibly fatal check.
- To Eliminate Fire
- 1-Don't smoke in bed.
- 2-Never start fire with kerosene.
- 3-Don't allow paper rubbish to accumulate in cellar, especially near stove or furnace, or in fireplace.
- 4-Provide your fireplace with heavy screen.
- 5-Beware of dry cleaning.
- 6-Use fire-retardant materials where practicable, especially where an additional expense is involved, as in roofing. Combustible roofs have caused great percentage of home fires. Fire-retardant roofing materials, such as asphalt shingles, have little risk fire.

moves to Florida, buys or builds himself a home and prepares to settle down to a life of ease and comfort. Then he gets to worrying about what to do with the rest of his dough; he starts looking for a safe investment that will bring him in as income.

Sooner or later he'll break out in business again. Maybe it's real estate and then again it may be something he knows something about. Anyhow, he gets tired of just sitting around and he starts pickin' papayas or harvesting saw grass and first thing you know we got a brand new industry in the state and then we gotta build a few houses to take care of employees and that brings on more schools and stores and a lot of other things.

Now when just a few folks do that, it is what the statisticians call "natural growth," but when half the United States gets the idea at the same time, it becomes a "boom" and that's exactly what the prophets tell us is fate to happen.

Now personally, I'm a total loss as a statistician and I can't point with pride to a hatin' average as a prophet—but just the same I do know that there are more folks interested in Florida right now than at any time since the last boom and more of 'em gettin' like that every day.

No state in the Union offers the homeowner an investment opportunity than does Florida today and that little secret is being hoisted around so far and so fast that it ain't even funny.
The real estate offices are already back on the ground floor and it won't be long before a lot of guys will break out with linen knickers, and when that happens you might as well go to work and whittle out a nice stack of subdivision stakes and start lookin' for the place to make sure just what the township, range and section is on that forty acres you've been hanging on to all this time sellin' certain that sooner or later something would happen.
But this time don't be a superstitious fellow. Remember the tiptoe the other guy WANTS to buy and if you want to be sure of a profit don't hold out for the last time. The more folks who make a few dollars on top of you, the safer you'll be. It is the last sale that is easier to make and the hardest to cash in on.
But on the other hand I'm probably wastin' my breath because the folks who want this, the last headaches probably know that by heart and the others just won't believe it and will have to find it out for themselves.

CLASS PLAY
Aunt Sophronia, played by Althea Ford, was one of those middle-aged women who to be well, she had gone of money but no suitors. Fanny her astonishment then, when her favorite nephew called her on the telephone one day asking her to come right over and informing her that he had a husband picked out for her. "You see, Sophronia's nephew, Warren Bingham, played by Adrian Daine had a pal who suddenly discovered himself with loads of liabilities and no assets. Emmett Hunting, played by Arthur Larrimore, Warren's pal, comes to him to appeal for aid. And Warren is suddenly inspired with the idea of having Emmett marry the wealthy Aunt Sophronia.

When the lady arrives, bent on matrimony, she meets Emmett Hunter, played by G. W. Byrd, mistakes him for the man whom her nephew has picked out for her, suggests that they be married at once, much to the lady's sorrow and she plunges headlong into a wedding with the wrong man. That is only one of the many amusing and brilliant situations contained in "A Husband for Sale" picked for production by the Senior Class of Pahokee High school. You've never seen so many screamingly funny situations in any three plays as are contained in this one. Don't forget the date April 2 and come early and be sure of getting the seats. Wait for further dates of the play in next week's paper.

FORD-ENGINE PLANE CROSSES CONTINENT

Arrow plane, powered by a Ford V-8 engine, soaring over New York City after completing transcontinental flight.

Right—Pace Woods of the Arrow factory points out to David E. Anderson, Chief Engineer of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corporation, the method of mounting the standard Ford V-8 powerplant in the plane.

The first airplane powered by a standard automobile engine to fly from coast to coast is the Arrow Sport V-8 shown here equipped with a regular Ford V-8 automobile engine. This plane is the first standard automobile engine-powered unit to receive the Approved Type Certificate from the Department of Commerce.

The plane made the transcontinental flight in time for its completion, just before the receipt of the plane shown at New York.

The flight was made by Dale Myers, veteran pilot, and George Christensen, copilot. The plane averaged 90 miles per hour and got better than 15 miles per gallon on the flight, using regular-priced automobile gasoline. The Arrow V-8 has a wingspread of about 37 feet and a length of 21 feet. It weighs less than 1200 pounds and retails for $1200.

The 60-horsepower Ford V-8 engine was first developed for Europe, where fuel costs are high. Two years' usage there proved its unusual economy.

When the "60" came to this country this year, the Ford Motor Company made no mileage claims—waited for facts, written on American roads by American drivers.

Now Ford "60" owners are reporting averages of 22 to 27 miles on a gallon of gasoline. That makes it the most economical Ford car ever built!

Best of all, the Ford "60" is just as big and roomy—just as handsome, sturdy and safe—as the famous 85-horsepower Ford V-8. And it sells at the lowest Ford price in years.

If you want a big car for a small budget—a car you can drive with pride and profit—see the thrifty "60" soon!
